ART UPDATE – PABLO PICASSO

Pablo Picasso has regained his number one position on the Arprice ranking of artists based on annual auction revenue (www.artprice.com). The Arprice Top 10 rankings reported total international auction revenue for Picasso during 2008 totalling US$262 million.

Sue Ellen Gallery is pleased to be able to offer a suite of four original lithographs that Picasso created to accompany the book "A Los Toros Avec Picasso", 1961.

Written by Jaime Sabartes and illustrated by Picasso, the book's subject is the bullfight, a theme which Picasso further developed in the accompanying 3 black-and-white and one full colour lithograph. These rare and highly sought after works will be available individually or as a complete suite.

FINE JEWELLERY TRENDS

The current European jewellery collections demonstrate astonishing creative brilliance, with large, statement pieces being the order of the day. A strong black and white theme is emerging, with high contrast and high impact combinations of brilliant cut black and white diamonds set in white gold. Pavé setting is also a strong trend, either in glittering carpets of diamonds or intricate and multicoloured floral and abstract creations. The coloured gemstone trend we have seen over the last couple of seasons continues to be strong across the collections, with rich, vibrant colours being especially desirable.

Sue Ellen has sourced some fabulous pieces in these latest styles, including stunning black and white diamond rings, and sculptural, pavé set diamond rings and pendants.

LUI DE CLIO (PARIS) FOR MEN

Sue Ellen is pleased to introduce Lui de Clio, the jewellery collection for men by Clio Blue (Paris).

The Lui de Clio collection includes rings, pendants and bracelets. The masculine aesthetic of Lui de Clio is complemented by a range of watches with chronograph functionality. Lui de Clio is made in France using the finest quality sterling silver and is rhodium plated for enhanced wearability.

ANCIENT FUTURE HANDCRAFTED JEWELLERY FOR MEN

Australian jeweller Darren Jackson has expanded his range of jewellery designs for men using the complex mokume gane technique that was developed by sword smiths in feudal Japan. In this ancient process, layers of precious metals were fused by heat and pressure, then forged, carved and finished to produce uniquely patterned metal for samurai sword "furniture".

An expanded selection of Darren's designs is available for viewing in the Gallery now, with additional sizes custom made to order. The mokume gane patterning process can be influenced but not repeated, ensuring every piece of Ancient Future jewellery is unique.
